

DC Nurses Association Action Alert

Sign our petition! Tell Howard University to give DCNA members a fair contract and the respect we deserve.

After many months of bargaining, Howard University and Adventist Health continue to demand differential cuts that will cost nurses and licensed healthcare professionals up to $4,600 a year.

And despite dangerous staffing shortages during a pandemic, management refuses to discuss DCNA safe staffing proposals.

As DNCA nurses and licensed healthcare professionals, we are devoted to our patients and the community. Other DC area hospitals have signed contracts with NO TAKEAWAYS.

Why is HU-HUH management treating us with less respect than other DC area nurses are receiving?

- Nurses and licensed healthcare professionals deserve dignity and respect.
- We deserve a fair contract.
- The patients we serve from the community deserve safe staffing and safe patient care.
- Sign our petition to tell Howard University Hospital to go back to the bargaining table and bargain a fair contract that protects nurses and patients.

“Howard University is the first historic black college. I’ve always been proud to work here at the hospital, serving the community. But Howard should be ashamed. They are denying us and our patients adequate staffing and are demanding takeaways during this pandemic. Please sign our petition to tell Howard University to get back to the table and give us and our patients the respect we deserve.”

Valesay Cherie, RN
DCNA Bargaining Team Member at HU-HUH.

Sign the petition here:

<https://bit.ly/35PcTII>

Share the petition – send the website address above and send it to friends, family, and co-workers. Or point your smartphone camera at the code to the left to go directly to the petition. page in your browser.